CONGRATULATIONS TO THE CLASS OF 2025!

As we celebrate 50 years of inspiring futures, today's results highlight the continued strength of our community and the bright opportunities ahead for our students.

Results across both A Levels and Applied courses are strong, with many students attaining top grades such as A*A*A* or Triple Distinction. We are equally proud of those who have made exceptional progress during their time at Long Road, often surpassing expectations. Some students have overcome significant challenges and personal hardships to complete their courses, and their resilience and determination are truly commendable.

Our students are now progressing to a wide range of exciting destinations, including Oxbridge and Russell Group universities, as well as an increasing number securing highly competitive apprenticeship opportunities. We recognise that academic results are just one part of the sixth form experience. Our students have also grown in confidence, maturity, and personal development since joining the college.

Our students have worked incredibly hard, shown amazing determination, and proved that perseverance really does pay off. We couldn't be prouder of what they've achieved – and we know this is just the beginning for them.

A LEVEL RESULTS DAY 2025

We are immensely proud of each and every one of you. You have worked incredibly hard and achieved so much. As you take your next steps, we know you are well-prepared for whatever lies ahead. Good luck on your journey – where it takes you, we're confident you're destined for great things!

WHAT TO BRING ON YOUR FIRST DAY

Does anyone else love stationery shopping?!

First day nerves can get the better of us all! To help you feel at ease we've put together a checklist of the essentials you'll need for your first day of college.

- ✓ Pencil case with pens (lots of pens!) pencils, highlighters. Depending on your subjects you may also need mathematical equipment.
Top Tip - buy a clear pencil case that you will also be able to use in your exams!
- ✓ An A4 folder for each of your subjects.
Top Tip - buy some colourful folder dividers so you can separate modules within your subject folders!
- ✓ A pad of A4 paper / A4 notebook / laptop to take notes in class.
- ✓ A diary to keep track of your timetable, assignment deadlines and all the exciting extra-curricular activities you'll be taking part in.
- ✓ Lunch / snacks and a large water bottle filled with water.
- ✓ Student travel pass / bike lock
- ✓ A smile, positive attitude and enthusiasm to learn!

BUT WHAT DO I WEAR?!

Basically, whatever you like!

(within reason - your new PJs might be super comfy but they're not really appropriate for college)

Our students generally wear casual clothing - jeans, jumpers, t-shirts, dresses. Wear something that you feel comfortable in.

No more school uniform - yay!

Get your summer work done in good time, so you feel prepared.

Use your free periods and doing little bits of it often.

Of course, if the work does get too much, you can always ask for a small extension to get it done; lots of the teachers prefer that you get it done well a few days later than not finish it at all within a tighter deadline.

WHAT WE WISH WE KNEW BEFORE STARTING COLLEGE

ARTICLE BY LONG ROAD ALUMNI ELLEN FISHER

Some of our students and teachers have offered their advice and help to guide you through your first steps at college. These are things they wish they knew before they started...

Don't let the work build up!

Lots of our students suggested this. You can get quite a lot of work per week at college, and it can feel like it builds up quite quickly, especially if you don't keep on top of it. If the work does get too much, you can always ask for a small deadline extension; lots of teachers prefer that you get it done well a few days later than not finish it at all within a tighter deadline.

Some ways to keep on top of it might be:

- Buying a planner to organise your time.
- Getting your summer work done in good time, so you feel prepared.
- Using your free periods and doing little bits of it often.
- Working with your friends in your class to share ideas and help each other.
- Take your teacher's advice! They know the course best and can really help you. Don't be scared to ask questions you can always ask after your class if you don't feel ready to talk in lessons.

WHAT WE WISH WE KNEW BEFORE STARTING COLLEGE

Get prepared with the equipment you need!

Don't buy too much! Start with just paper, ring binders, pens and the suggested text books. Your teachers will tell you what else on your first day so you still have time to get everything. Make sure you have a bag big enough for everything, and one that you can carry around easily.

Look at your transport options!

The Long Road website can be a good place to start with this, because often public transport to and from college can get a little pricey! Transport costs may also be covered by bursaries for certain students. Check with the college if you're eligible to access these funds.

Some advice for transport:

- Looking on a company's website to see if they have student prices.
- Buy weekly, monthly or termly tickets to save a bit of money for the same amount of journeys.
- Test out your journey before your first day. Most are fairly straight forward, but it just takes off one worry from your first day, and try to test it at the time you will be on the day.
- Buses and trains can be packed at peak times! Try to get the earlier bus or train, it may take less time when it's quieter but everyone is rushing around to get to college most days!

It can seem really daunting coming to a college as there are lots of new people. Try to remember that everyone is in the same position.

The best way to find your people is to be yourself. Try to branch out and say hi to anyone who looks a little lonely.

Everyone feels anxious about starting sixth form, whether they look it or not. Try to remember that you're not alone. And remember to smile, even if you don't feel like it.

WHAT WE WISH WE KNEW BEFORE STARTING COLLEGE

Meeting new people isn't as bad as you think!

It can seem really daunting coming to a college as there are lots of new people. Try to remember that everyone is in the same position.

Some ways to make new friends could be:

- Talk to everyone. Yes, everyone. Even asking how someone's day is can help.
- Talk to people in your classes, you all take the same subject so start from there.
- Be you! There are so many people in college, there will be people you get on well with and people you don't. The best way to find your people is to be yourself.

- Don't worry about groups changing or leaving a group. You will likely have lots of different friends because you won't all have the same timetable. Try to branch out and say hi to anyone who looks a little lonely.
- Everyone feels anxious about starting sixth form, whether they look it or not. Try to remember that you're not alone. And remember to smile, even if you don't feel like it.

Make use of the support available

College and life in general isn't always easy. Asking for a bit of extra support, whatever it is, is always okay. If you're not sure where to get help,

WHAT WE WISH WE KNEW BEFORE STARTING COLLEGE

Speak to your progress coach, they will know where to go or email help@longroad.ac.uk.

Remember it's always okay to take a break or need some extra help, prioritise yourself.

HERE ARE SOME WAYS YOU CAN GET HELP IF YOU NEED IT:

- Academic support: Your teachers, your progress coach, head of departments.
- Mental health support: ALWAYS put your mental health first. You can email help@longroad.ac.uk you need support, or speak to your progress coach or teachers.
- Home/social and friends support: Progress coaches can help, or the emails for mental health support.

Remember it's always okay to take a break or need some extra help, prioritise yourself.

College is very important but it's also important to look after yourself too.

Make sure you talk to someone if you need support, Long Road has a great support system, and it's always good to make use of it.

If you're not sure where to get help, speak to your Progress Coach or email help@longroad.ac.uk
